ELLIS' MENTALITY HAT OF BOY OF 10, NEUROLOGIST SAYS

Doctor Bases Conclusion on Binet Test, Scientific
Method Used in Army—
Defense Rests Its Case.

TESTIMONY ENDS;
ARGUMENT TOMORROW

State Will Demand Death
Penalty, Basing Case
Largely on Detailed Signed Confession.

Testimony in the trial of Albert Ellis, 21 years old, of 4605 Sacramento avenue, for the murder of his former fiancée, Edna Ellis, 18, of 1333 North Garrison avenue, ended at 2:37 this afternoon, the thirteenth day of the trial. Court adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when Judge Hartmann will read his instructions to the jury. Arguments will follow, and the case will go to the jury sometime tomorrow.

The state, represented by Circuit Attorney Siderer and Thomas J. O'Brien, will demand the death penalty, basing the demand in large part on the confession signed by Ellis, given today, that Ellis has the mentality of a child of 10½ years old, is expected to figure in the argument.

Ellis has not appeared before the jury in his own behalf, though he made a statement to Judge Hartmann, when the judge was considering the question of admitting his signed confession as evidence.

Dr. McPadden and Dr. M. A. Bliss testified this morning, for the defense, that they had examined Ellis and considered him subnormal in his mental capacity. Dr. McPadden submitted Ellis to the Binet test, a recognized scientific method, used in the United States Army, and said that this test showed Ellis to be on the mental level of a boy of 10½ years.

The physicians, both specialists in mental disease, were called to testify to the mental condition to which Ellis may have been brought by continued police questioning, by fatigue and possible fear before he made his admission of guilt early Sunday morning, Nov. 7, at the Dayton street police station, and signed a detailed confession.

The first witness called by the state in rebuttal, after the defense rested at noon, was Miss Katherine Norton of 3855A Labadie avenue, who was Edna Ellis' companion on the street car on which she rode to the place where she was killed. She testified that she was sure the car on which they rode had a trailer. A motorman who testified for the defense, and who believed Edna was on his car, said the car ahead of his had a trailer.

The second rebuttal witness for the state was Horace A. Bennett of 1224 Labadie avenue, an insurance collector. He testified that at 6:30 p. m., Nov. 4, he saw a car at the northeast corner of Garrison avenue and North Market street, as a Natural Bridge car stopped there, and that the man then walked east on North Market, toward Glasgow avenue. A Cass car came north on Glasgow, he said, and the man turned and went back toward Garrison, as if he were watching both cars. He said the man wore a tau-colored macintosh coat and a dark soft hat, and was about 5 feet 3 inches tall. Bennett could not identify Ellis, and said he did not see the man's face.

This ended the testimony, the defense offering no rebuttal witnesses.

Instructions to Jury.
Judge Hartmann's instructions to the jury regarding the consideration which it shall give to Ellis' signed confession, and his subsequent statements admitting the crime, were prepared this morning. The essential part of the instructions, relating to the testimony, is:

FINE TO SAVE YOUTH FROM THE TOBACCO HABIT, SAYS HARDING

President-Elect Replies to Letter
From Anti-Cigarette League.

By the Associated Press.
TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 17.—Miss Luoy Page Gaston of Chicago, representing the National Anti-Cigarette League, who is in Topeka directing the fight against the cigarette in Kansas, announced yesterday that she had received a reply from President-elect Harding to a letter in which she had asked him to refrain from the use of cigarettes as an example to the youth of the land.

"I think it is fine to save the youth of America from the tobacco habit," says Mr. Harding's reply. "I think, however, the movement ought to be carried on in perfect good faith and should be free from any kind of hypocrisy or deceit on the part of those who are giving it their earnest attention."

CANE MADE FROM TEXAS TREE GIVEN TO PRESIDENT

Walking Stick Presented by Democrats as Indorsement of His Stand on League.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—A walking stick made from wood cut out of the heart of a native Bois d'Arc tree plant in Texas in 1876 was presented to President Wilson by Representative Parrish of Texas on behalf of the Democrats of Wise County, Tex. The stick, of a light golden brown, with a silver head, bore the inscription:

"Presented by the Democrats of Wise County, Tex., as an indorsement of your stand on the League of Nations."

The President received Parrish seated in the White House study, and after remarking on the beauty of the gift, said he would treasure it not only on that account, but also because of the sentiment expressed by those who gave it.

Besides the cane, the President also received a photograph of Sam Woody, described by Representative Parrish as being 94 years old and the oldest loyal Democrat of Wise County.

After leaving the White House, Parrish said the President was in excellent spirits and was plainly showing great improvement in health.

AMATEUR RADIO LEAGUE LOWERS ITS TRANSCONTINENTAL RECORD

Message From Boston to San Francisco Via St. Louis Station Sent in Eight Minutes.

The Amateur Radio League last night completed its annual experiments in sending transcontinental messages, lowering its record for such a message from 45 minutes, as established last year, to eight minutes with a message last night sent from Boston and San Francisco.

The relay stations used were Boston, Yonkers, N. Y., St. Louis, Anthony, Kan., and San Francisco. The station used in St. Louis was that of the Benwood Co. in Forest Park between De Baliviere and Skinner roads.

Another message sent last night was from Hiram Maxim, president of the league in Hartford, to Los Angeles, by way of Yonkers, Cleveland, St. Louis, Anthony, Phoenix, Ariz. It required 10 minutes. The results of the experiments are to be used in combating a bill introduced in Congress which would abolish amateur wireless stations.

CAR MEN OFFER BILL TO PROHIBIT ONE-MAN CARS

Union Official at Jefferson City to Present Measure Prompted by C. R. Plans.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 17.—John McCready of the St. Louis street car union, arrived today with a bill to prohibit the operation in the five larger cities of the State of one-man street cars, which he will have introduced into both houses of the Legislature today.

McCready's bill, which would apply to St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Springfield and Joplin, would require a motorman and conductor on each car and a conductor on each trailer.

This bill is said to have resulted from the announced plan of the United Railway Co. to put into operation 18 such cars in St. Louis and St. Louis County, on the lines which have light travel.

"BIG" CABINET PLEDGE HARD FOR HARDING TO KEEP

Five Weeks Spent by President-Elect in Considering the Matter—Official Family Still Uncertain.

POLITICAL CLAIMS
BEING CONSIDERED

Hughes and Hoover Only Men of National Reputation So Far Mentioned for Appointment.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
MARION, O., Jan. 17.—A week's observation at Marion has shown the difficulty that Senator Harding is having in redeeming the pledge that he made in one of his campaign speeches to give the country an "all star cast" in his Cabinet.

It is obvious now, after five weeks spent by the President-elect in consulting "master minds" and other minds of his party, that the Cabinet he will finally announce to the country will not be a "big" Cabinet. It will not be "big," that is to say, in the sense of being made up of men of great national reputation. Unless Hoover is put in the Cabinet, the only "big" name will be that of Charles E. Hughes as Secretary of State.

"Big" Cabinet Hard to Pick.

The names of most of the others have been made familiar to the public only through the advance speculation regarding Cabinet possibilities. If the Cabinet that eventually will be picked had been announced by Harding immediately after his election, criticism would have flared forth that he had chosen an official family of little-known men, rather than the "big" men that the country had been led to expect. Wilson faced the same criticism, and doubtless other Presidents before him. A "big" Cabinet looks like an impossibility under the American political system. At least it is a possibility not within the memory of the present generation. Who can recall more than half a dozen names of men who have been conspicuous cabinet members in the last 29 years?

Take the names that Harding has been considering, Hughes and Hoover are "big" names, names of men whose merit is widely recognized by Democrats and Republicans alike. Passing on to the others, perhaps the best known name to the public at large is that of Will H. Hays, who has been selected for the postmaster-generalship. Hays is known only as the successful leader of his party in a national campaign. His success is wholly in politics. He has no claim to fame as an executive in business except as running a political party in these days may be termed a business or as a leader in one of the professions. His appointment would be a concession to political grounds solely.

Then there is John W. Weeks, Massachusetts. Weeks is an able business man and a former Senator of the United States. Next to Hoover and Hughes he comes as close to being a "big" man as anybody whose name has been put forward in the Marion conferences. Yet not many Americans outside of those who closely follow the movements of politics had heard of Weeks before the beginning of the campaign.

Dawes Known to Bankers Only.
The name of Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, who may get the Treasury portfolio, is familiar, of course, in banking circles, but to the great majority of newspaper readers it would have had an unfamiliar ring a few weeks ago. The name is true in even greater degree of the name of Andrew W. Mellon of Pittsburgh, another candidate for the secretaryship of the Treasury.

Harry M. Daugherty, who apparently will get the attorney-generalship, was only very slightly known outside of Ohio politics before he blazed forth on the horizon as the man who "put Harding over" at Chicago.

A. T. Hirt, who has been under consideration for a post of Cabinet size, has come into national prominence recently only because of his service in the campaign and the speculation which has centered around his name. Hirt, who is from Kentucky, was not known to any extent beyond Republican political circles. His chances of being put in the Cabinet have been badly damaged recently, it is understood here, because of the disqualification of Harding to face the criticism that would be aroused by the naming of too many politicians. Hirt's would be a purely political appointment and would be so regarded by the public, as would those of Daugherty and Hays. The appointment of Weeks would be in somewhat the same category, though it would be grounded also on considerations of positive merit as a business executive.

Harding has many claims to satisfy

Police Search Riverview Club but Find No Liquor

Autos in Front of Place First Inspected Early Sunday—"White and Black" Dinner Dance in Progress at the Time.

Automobiles parked on the grounds of the Riverview Club, 11050 Riverview drive, were searched for liquor early yesterday morning by members of Capt. Stinger's police "clean-up" squad while members of the club and their guests were having a "black and white" dinner dance in the clubhouse. After the automobiles had been found to be dry the investigating squad, led by Detective Sgt. Kelly, entered the building and searched the clubhouse pantry and service bar.

In his report to Chief O'Brien today Sgt. Kelly said he and his squad arrived at the club shortly after midnight and that the search revealed no intoxicants.

The State law, like the national prohibition law, forbids the transportation of liquor. It has been the policy of the Federal officials not to prosecute reputable persons in whose automobiles liquor was found, if it was apparent that it was for the owner's use and not for sale.

The visit to the club, the report said, was made because of anonymous letters to Capt. Stinger which said there was to be a "big party" at the club Saturday night, and intoxicants would be served.

An anonymous letter informed Sgt. Kelly that the Western Riverview Club was going to erect officers Friday night, incidental to which there would be drinking and "arresting" dancing. Kelly took some of his men and went down there.

The first man they met when they entered was former Circuit Attorney McDaniel, president of the club, who wanted to know the reason of the visit. Kelly informed him that the place was to be "pinched."

"Let's go down stairs and talk it over," said McDaniel.

They went down and had a couple of soft bottles and Kelly and his men were invited to stay and see. They stayed and saw a perfectly respectable election, an Oriental dancer with a great many cloths on and some wrestling with very few. They searched the club and the adjacent automobiles and found nothing at which they could take offense. McDaniel was elected president.

INJUNCTION AGAINST USE OF HOGGELY-WOGGELY STORE NAME

Piggly Wiggly Corporation Gets Order Prohibiting Charles Tammie From Using It.

Charles Tammie will have to find a name for his grocery store that sounds less like Piggly Wiggly than Hoggely Woggely does, the Federal Court ordered today, in granting a permanent injunction restraining him from using the name Hoggely Wiggly. The suit was filed by the corporation which operates the Piggly Wiggly stores.

Soon after the advent of the Piggly Wiggly store, Tammie, who operates a store at 1101 Hodgdon avenue, and at two other locations, adopted the name Hoggely Wiggly.

The Piggly Wiggly filed suit, declaring that their name had been advertised at great expense, and was widely known, and that the Hoggely Woggelys were hogging their trade by leading people to believe that it was the same concern.

The suit was won by default. Tammie failing to take any action in the case since a motion to dismiss the case was argued, and dismissed, Nov. 10.

215TH FRANKLIN ANNIVERSARY

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 17.—Thousands of Philadelphians who daily pass the iron gates that protect the entrance to Christ Church burial grounds in the wholesale business district of Philadelphia without glancing inside, today paused to look beyond the barrier and pay tribute to Benjamin Franklin, whose grave and that of his wife are just within the gates.

TROOPS ROPE OFF, OCCUPY SQUARE MILE OF DUBLIN

Residents Ordered to Lower Floors of Homes and Machine Guns Are Set Up and Barbed Wire Placed.

SEARCHLIGHTS USED
THROUGHOUT NIGHT

Several Days' Search Expected to Be Conducted—Street Car Operation Along Quay Suspended.

By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, Jan. 17.—Troops yesterday occupied a wide area in the city of Dublin. Houses commanding the streets in the occupied district were entered and the inhabitants of the upper floors given 20 minutes in which to move downstairs. Machine guns were placed in windows and barbed-wire entanglements erected. The entire area was inclosed and the inhabitants are virtually prisoners.

Searchlights last night made the streets as bright as day.

The street railway service along the quay was suspended.

The center of the cordoned district includes Church street and the place where the soldiers were ambushed recently, and North King street, the scene of fierce fighting in the Easter rebellion.

A total area of a square mile is surrounded, and the biggest raid Dublin has yet experienced has been under way.

It is believed every house will be systematically searched, the raid lasting several days.

Hundreds of soldiers are taking part, and field kitchens are providing them with food.

The raid, planned to last 48 hours, was still in progress today.

Some workmen who established their identity were allowed to pass the cordons, but houses once searched were closed with barbed wire to prevent certain men wanted by the police from obtaining refuge in them.

The object of the raid, it was said, was the arrest of these men and the seizure of arms, but thus far only two arrests have been made and no arms have been discovered. The operation likely will be extended to other parts of the city.

Concealed stores of arms and ammunition are officially reported to have been discovered in Glenworth Castle, in the martial law area of Cork.

12 Persons Shot in Attempt to Clear Street in Cork

CORK, Ireland, Jan. 17.—Serious disorders followed the shooting here Saturday in which two detectives in plain clothes were wounded. The disorders occurred while a crowd was dispersing from a football match and parties of police were trying to clear the streets. Twelve persons were wounded during promiscuous firing, while an excise officer was killed by a stray shot from a passing lorry.

The excise officer had come to his home here for the week-end and was walking in the street with his brother and sister.

Many Arrests Made in Raids in South Armagh

BELFAST, Jan. 17.—Crown forces on Saturday went through with great thoroughness South Armagh, the scene of recent alleged Sinn Féin activity. Troops and constabulary of the Ulster "specials" co-operated. Every road was under supervision. More than 400 prisoners were taken in the various nets, but after an examination only 40 persons were held in the military barracks.

'SYMPATHY FAST' BEGUN BY GIRL

Menu of Starving Children of Europe for New York Mies.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Mary Schaefer, a perfectly normal girl of sixteen, began yesterday at her home a "sympathy fast" for the benefit of the 2,500,000 starving children of Central and Southern Europe.

What these children are getting to eat Mary is going to eat from now until Jan. 26, which is "moving picture day" in the big drive ordered by the European Relief Council. Her idea is to call attention to the cause. This is to be her menu: Two bits of dry bread, a saucer of rice and a cup of cocoa. The motion picture industry has pledged itself to raise $2,500,000.

Three robbers shortly after 6 a. m. today forced their way into the Rialto Theater at 320 North Grand avenue, a few feet south of Olive street, and stole an iron strong box containing Saturday's and Sunday's receipts, estimated by William A. Singer, manager of the theater, to have been between $3300 and $3500. They escaped in an automobile.

TESTIMONY FLIGHT TO CANADA WAS BALLOONISTS' PLAN

Commandant of Rockaway Air Station Says Hereafter Detailed Information Will Be Required.

By the Associated Press.
ROCKAWAY, N. Y., Jan. 17.—Conditions are being corrected at the Rockaway naval air station so that it no longer will be possible for pilots to float into Canada without discussing details of their proposed flight with their commanding officer.

This testimony was given here today by Capt. Damon E. Cummings, commandant, at the opening of the court of inquiry investigating the recent spectacular balloon flight of Lieuts. Kloor, Hinton and Farrell.

Capt. Cummings, the first witness, testified that he had taken up his duties only last November and that while he had authorized the flight, he had been so occupied with administrative duties that he left the flight details to his executive officer, Lieutenant-Commander Archibald H. Douglas.

The commandant read a report made to him by Lieut. A. W. Evans, sent to Canada to direct search for the missing aeronauts, in which it was said "The trip was intended for a flight into Canada."

Fund Subscribed for Expenses.
Asking for permission to make a comment on this report, Capt. Cummings said:

"Under the conditions which were in progress of correction it was possible for a flight to be attempted into Canada from this station without that intention being previously discussed with the commanding officer—a condition not excusable at an air station and which as soon as it was recognized was corrected."

"What steps did you take in reference to the balloon and its possible recovery?" the Judge Advocate asked.

"I kept the commandant of the district informed," Capt. Cummings replied. "I requested assistance in attempts to discover the balloon."

Capt. Cummings said he had issued orders for the flight on Nov. 13, directing Lieut. Kloor to take out the balloon and designating Lieuts. Farrell and Hinton to accompany him.

Left Station Day Before Flight.
In his order, Capt. Cummings said, he directed that the flight be attempted "on a suitable day," and gave no further orders, written or oral. He said he went on a leave of absence Dec. 12, the day before the start, leaving Lieut. Commander Douglas in command of the station.

Explaining that the purpose of the flight was to train pilots, Capt. Cummings said:

"Cold weather is especially desirable for balloon flights, because the big bags have more buoyancy than the gas loss is least when the heat is least and when the sun is low, as during the winter months."

He added that since then he had issued orders that "flights which are to be of long duration must be detailed to the commanding officer."

Safe Carried From Store.
At 4:26 this morning a pie wagon driver saw the men carry a safe, three feet square, from the Hub shoe store, 1624 Franklin avenue, and place it on a motor truck standing in front of the store. The men then returned to the store and when they came out a few minutes later each was carrying several shoe boxes. They drove north on Fifteenth street.

The pie man telephoned to police headquarters, but when policemen arrived the truck was out of sight. The front door of the shoe store had been "bumped" and the safe had been moved from the office in the rear part of the store. Jacob Toben, head of the company, said the safe contained $57 in currency and checks for $68. A postal money order for $25.25 also was in the safe. Boxes containing two dozen pairs of ers from a bed growing at the mouth of a sewer.

Doctor Describes Germs In Talk on Disease Causes

"The typhoid bacillus growing in a man invades all parts of the body. They do not form a poison in the sense of the diphtheria bacillus. The way the disease is produced by them is not altogether clear. One attack of this disease shields, however, against another. Second attacks are probably due to one or two other bacteria closely related to the typhoid bacillus and which produce a similar disease. An attack of typhoid does not shield one against these.

"It has been conceived that the inoculation of a mixture of dead typhoid bacilli and the other two might produce a low form of the disease, and make the individual immune. This has been tried. The typhoid scourge of previous wars was done away with in the late war. These inoculations were undoubtedly most important in accomplishing this, together with, of course, most rigid care in seeing to the destruction of sewage and the cleanliness of body and food.

A Penetrating Organism.
"Infantile Paralysis—The organism of this disease is still under discussion. In spite of this fact many of the habits and characteristics of this organism have been learned from a careful study of epidemics and methods of transmitting it to animals. In 1902 Landsterner, of Vienna, made the first successful transmission of the disease from a child to a monkey. This work was soon confirmed by Strauss, and then by Flexner and Lewis, in this country, and Levaditti, in Paris. The principal work in this country has been done by Flexner at the Rockefeller Institute. He and Lewis were the first to show that this organism would pass through a clay filter, the pores of which are so small that ordinary bacteria will not pass.

"Their observations led for a time to the belief that the organism was ultra-microscopic, but later Nogouchi succeeded at the Rockefeller Institute in cultivating an organism which looked much like the ordinary streptococcus except that it was about one-tenth the size. This organism will pass through a clay filter, and produces in monkeys a disease like infantile paralysis.

"This disease is probably almost wholly peculiar to man. Animals other than monkeys probably are not infected. The virus may live for a long time in the mouths of otherwise healthy individuals. The patients and the nurses of sick individuals are invariably carriers. One attack suffices for the establishment of complete immunity.

"With it, as with all infectious diseases, all individuals do not suffer the same. In fact, in the large epidemics in this country, I think we can safely say that only a few of those infected suffered any harmful effects. In Baltimore, in 1916, I calculated that there were from 1500 to 2000 cases. Out of this number there were 250 paralyzed and 50 deaths. All the others suffered little more than nausea, vomiting, fever, and weakness in the muscles for a short time.

Name a Misnomer.
"Infantile paralysis is a misnomer, as adults may also be attacked. In small epidemics in isolated quarters many adults have suffered. The question has arisen why have they not been attacked more in these recent epidemics in the large cities? A history of these may answer the question. There has been an epidemic in the East every four years since at least 1800. The age incidence of these epidemics have been between one and four years. The answer, as is evident, is that we may all have had it in the milder form. "This raises the question why St. Louis has not suffered like New York. It is time now for another epidemic in this country, and it is interesting that several cases have been seen in this city recently. I have wondered if the severer form could have, by any chance, been uncommon here. It will take further data to answer this question.

"Cerebro-Spinal Fever—Probably almost exclusively carried in the mouths of otherwise healthy individuals. It is caused by a small biscuit-shaped coccus which occurs generally in groups of two.

"As in the case of infantile paralysis, there are also many individuals who are but little affected by this germ. There are also many carriers in our midst, and, consequently, when people are crowded together there are always chances of infection. This was seen in our army camps during the war. Before the medical corps was fully organized large numbers fell ill of this disease in the Great Lakes and other camps. Soon, however, all carriers were known and segregated or made free of their bacteria. The epidemic ceased almost over night.

Most Widespread Infection.
"Tuberculosis—Probably the most widespread of all diseases. Probably the whole population over 20 years of age has been at least once or several times infected. In spite of this, only a few have the disease. The question of resistance becomes most prominent, therefore, in this disease. "The disease is due to a minute organism belonging to the group, as far as its shape and staining properties are concerned, to which the leprosy bacillus belongs. This organism resists drying, and may live for a long time in the dust and dirt, and it is probably by this means that most individuals are infected.

"The immediate problem in medical research applying to this disease is, evidently, what determines the resistance. A few facts have been learned. To what extent heredity plays a part in determining the resistance of an individual to tuberculosis, I think, is in part at least problematical. I have known all the children of some tuberculosis parents to die of the disease. In other instances, strong men may spring from such parents. I think in the vast majority of cases the children of parents who succumb to tuberculosis may also succumb to the disease.

"That healthy surroundings, fresh air, good food, especially of the right kind, may not only keep one from acquiring the disease, but may cure one with large lesions, I think is certain."

Animal Parasite Diseases.
Dr. Burrows spoke of malaria and hookworm, diseases caused by animal parasites, and then discussed diseases due to common foods, to some of which certain individuals are sensitive. Many cases of asthma, chronic eczema and hives are due to the effect of common foods, he said. One man was attacked by asthma whenever he visited a cellar where fish were being cleaned. A girl was cured of hives when beef and wheat proteins were removed from her diet. Vaccination sometimes avails to cure such cases. A woman ceased to suffer from asthma when wheat flour was removed from her diet.

Cancer was the last disease mentioned, with the statement that the cause is still unknown. It is a localized disease, which may be removed by early surgery or treatment, when a vital organ is not affected. Predisposing factors, such as continuous injury leading to chronic ulceration, were cited.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter if Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Don't Waste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspirinal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories, tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as the quickest and most effective remedy for colds, coughs, and any other cold and cough remedy they have tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful Aspirinal, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal, and tell him to serve you two teaspoonsful of your Aspirinal in a glass of water. With you in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for the druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is really bad, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspirinal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

MAN FROM HERE, SHOT HOLDING UP BANK, DIES

George Saenger, Wounded Saturday in Kansas City, Succumbs.

By the Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 17.—George Saenger, 36 years old, of St. Louis, one of four robbers who engaged in a pistol fight with a patrolman Saturday in an attempt to hold up the East Side Bank here, died yesterday from wounds received in the fight.

He had promised officers to talk yesterday regarding the identity of his accomplices, who escaped, and Chief of Detectives Phelan was en route to the hospital to question him when death came.

An arrest was made yesterday in connection with the attempted robbery following an identification of a photograph at police headquarters by Jewel Burnett, a truck driver. A robber boarded Burnett's truck a short distance from the scene of the crime and ordered him to speed away, while flourishing a revolver. Later the robber jumped from the machine and ran. According to officers who made the arrest, there were three bullet holes in the man's overcoat.

George Saenger, fatally shot in the attempted Kansas City bank holdup, was a son of Mrs. E. Saenger, 2514 Garrison avenue, but had been living in Kansas City about a year. He was a barber and was married recently. Mrs. Saenger started to Kansas City after being notified that her son had been shot, but he died before she arrived. Another son also lives there.

TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF CONQUEROR OF YELLOW FEVER

Foreign Diplomats Join in Exercises at Washington for Late Major-General V. C. Gorgas.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The nations of Latin-America through their diplomatic representatives joined with the United States, France and Great Britain last night in paying tribute to the memory of the late Major-General William Crawford Gorgas, former Surgeon-General of the United States army and leader in the successful fight against yellow fever.

Memorial services in honor of Gen. Gorgas, who died last July in London, were held in the Pan-American building under the auspices of the Southern Society of Washington, which thereby honored the memory of a product of the South. The speakers included Secretaries Baker and Daniels, Major-General Peter C. Harris, Ambassador Jusserand of France, Major-General H. K. Bethell, military attaché of the British Embassy; Ambassador Peset of Peru, Minister de Céspedes of Cuba, Minister Elizalde of Ecuador, Charge d'Affaires Lefevre of Panama, and Director-General Rowe of the Pan-American Union. Messages were read from the presidents of a number of Latin-American Governments.

Adjutant-General Harris presided at the meeting and before introducing the other speakers traced the life of Gen. Gorgas, showing how intimately it had been connected with yellow fever and how "yellow fever" which in 1853 had driven the beautiful Amelia Gayle from her home in Mobile, Ala., to the nearby military station where she first met Lieut. Josiah Gorgas, twenty-nine years later called the son of this met to Fort Brown, Tex., where he met and saved from that scourge the young girl who as his wife shared his life and who as his widow now mourns his death.

AMERICAN WOMAN ARRESTED

Two Alleged Accomplices in Swindle Also Held in Berlin.

By the Associated Press. BERLIN, Jan. 17.—An American woman and two alleged accomplices in a swindling operation have been arrested here. The woman's maiden name is said by the police to have been Virginia Fairfax. They assert that she married a German named Moll, who died a year ago. Mrs. Moll is declared to have come to Germany nine years ago and since that time she has resided here.

The woman and her accomplices, according to the police, under the pretext of organizing a food relief bureau with the aid of American funds, a year ago, succeeded in obtaining duty free import licenses for more than 100 carloads of foodstuffs. Of these supplies 30 carloads are declared already to have entered Germany and been transferred to private speculators.

'CHU CHIN CHOW,' BACK, AS GORGEOUS AS EVER

Forty Thieves' Cavern and Bagdad Bazaar Seen on the Jefferson's Stage.

All Baba, bibulous and babbling, lived through his day of riches, and the Forty Thieves, or a representative group of them, followed their leader, Abu Hassan, to plunder and doom, when "Chu Chin Chow" began its week's showing at the Shubert-Jefferson Theater last night.

This is the second presentation here, within a little more than one year, of Oscar Ascho's musical tale of the East, to Frederick Norton's music. In numbers and scenic richness, no diminution could be noted. There have been some changes in the cast, but the greater number of the principals are those who were here last season.

The characters of "Chu Chin Chow" are appealing folk—not by any means the most beautiful of the East, but the sort that fit into an Arabian Nights tale. Even the robbers, trooping into their cave of gold and gems, and hiding in their jars of olive oil, are old friends of most of us. Comparison with the characters in another big spectacle which has been seen here since the first visit of "Chu Chin Chow" might well cause the exclamation, "To the paragon Hades with the 'Aphrodite' crew! Give us the people of the Bagdad market place, where the Koran is sworn by, and let us view the visions that have been woven around them."

New Man in Title Role.

Henry Latimer, who appears this season as Chu Chin Chow, makes the part a dramatic one. His avenger and craft are expressed with increasing effectiveness through the play, as he changes from a desert robber. He has not the physique of Lionel Lincoln, who played the part last year, and he has by no means the same vocal force in his opening song, but his work in the spoken role is excellent. Eugene Cowles is a resonant and venturesome chief steward, singing his metrical bill of gargantuan fare. Don W. Ferrandou, as Ali Baba, is extremely pleasing. Roy Cropper, in the part of Ali's son, displayed a fine tenor voice. As Kasim Baba, Albert Howson does a remarkable piece of character work. The negro servants are conspicuous and amusing.

The little by-play of the Persian actors, presenting the tragedy of the woman with the jealous husband, was carried through in pantomime to the descriptive singing of the steward. The robbers' song recurs frequently. In the act scene the mannequins gorgeous in silks, had their lower limbs draped, but began economy of material below the girdle. The slave market scene was vividly done. The three acts contain eight major scenes and five lesser scenes performed in a forward niche. Because of the length of the performance, the opening time is 15 minutes earlier this week than usual.

MRS. C. H. M'CORMICK, WIFE OF HARVESTER MANUFACTURER, DIES

Brief illness believed to have resulted from operation performed several years ago.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Cyrus Hall M'Cormick, wife of the chairman of the board of directors of International Harvester Co., died at a hospital here early today after a brief illness.

Complications believed to have ensued from an operation several years ago for gall stones caused her removal to a hospital early in the year but her condition had been favorable until Saturday, when M'Cormick, who was in New York on business, and Gordon, the younger son, a student at Princeton, were summoned. M'Cormick obtained a special train at Fort Wayne and arrived last night, but the son did not arrive until today.

Mr. and Mrs. M'Cormick were married March 5, 1889. She was born in England but was brought to Chicago at an early age and reared by an aunt, Mrs. Edward Sickney, wife of one of the pioneer stockyard magnates of Chicago. One of the most notable of the many benefactions in which Mrs. M'Cormick was active was the establishment of the Elizabeth M'Cormick Memorial Endowment Fund, founded in 1901 for the announced object of "improving the conditions of child life in the United States." More than 1000 communities are said to have benefited. It was in memory of her only daughter, who died in 1905, when 15 years old.

The quality of Enterprise is not a luxury—
it's an economy

Ordinary flour is like whole milk; Enterprise Flour is like cream—both rich, Jersey milk. It is only the white centers of nothing but the very finest hard winter wheat.

THO Enterprise costs more per sack than ordinary flour, it's really economical. You can absolutely depend on it—you won't have needless, expensive failures with it. And you can get at least four more loaves to the sack than you can from ordinary flour.

Milled from only the white centers of nothing but the very finest hard winter wheat, Enterprise is like cream skimmed from rich, Jersey milk. It's all quality—even this year when millers are tempted to lower quality to cut price.

By using a little more of the flour portion of the wheat, we can—and do—mingle another grade of flour called Community. It's good flour, too; in fact better than most. But it doesn't compare with Enterprise. The high quality of Enterprise makes it more economical in the long run. And the baking it produces is in a class by itself.

PRICE SURVEY SHOWS FARM PRODUCT DECLINE

Most Extensive Reductions Last Month Were in Livestock and Grains.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 17.—The current State-wide investigation of farm prices in Missouri, just completed by E. A. Logan of the United States Department of Agriculture and Jewell Mayes of the State Board of Agriculture, shows further declines in products sold from the farm. During the month the most extensive declines have been in livestock and grains, including dairy and poultry products.

Vegetables were more nearly stationary during the period, while fresh fruits showed a tendency to rise. Hay declined slightly, and grass seeds except alfalfa made a gain. Among the 47 products, those declining in price were hogs, beef cattle, veal calves, sheep, lambs, milk cows, horses, milk at retail cream (butter fat), sorghum molasses, wool, black walnut, popcorn, corn, wheat, oats, dry beans, kaffir corn seed, sweet potatoes, butter, eggs, chickens, timothy and clover hay, alfalfa seed, broom corn and cottonseed. Those advancing in price were apples, pears, grapes, hickory nuts, peanuts, pecans, soy beans, cowpeas, turkeys, clover and timothy seed. Those remaining the same price both months were milk at wholesale turkeys, onions, cabbages, alfalfa and prairie hay.

Among articles that farmers buy prices declined in some cases, but show a tendency to lag behind selling movement. Rates secured on eight articles show declines for kaffir corn seed, bran, cottonseed meal, cottonseed hulls and bituminous coal, while advances were noted in clover, timothy and alfalfa seed.

FIREMAN KILLED, ENGINE HURT

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 17.—J. J. Hollister of Cleveland, fireman, was killed and Harry Lynch, also of this city, engineer, seriously injured when the engine of the Big Four passenger train No. 11, westbound, from New York to St. Louis, left the tracks at Linsdale, near here, early yesterday, plunged down a 30-foot embankment and turned over, pinning the fireman underneath. Passengers were piled up in the cars, but escaped injury.

The engine tender stuck on the embankment and prevented a combination baggage car and coach and a Pullman from rolling into the ditch. The wreck was caused by an east-bound freight train engine jumping the track and sideswiping the passenger train engine.

Olive and Locust From Ninth to Tenth

Remember Tomorrow Is the Second Day of Our Great January Sale of Silks

This is a great saving opportunity, for we know that the prices are the lowest possible for silks of like quality and value.

Silk Shop—Second Floor.

Gift "Items of Interest"

15% Off

—the original price, if you buy a Percolator now. Any Electric Percolator at such a reduction would be well worth purchasing, and with the selection to be found in the Electrical Shop at Vandervoort's, you are bound to find the kind you have been wanting. An especially attractive Percolator is the "Loving Cup", formerly priced at $24.95, but at the new price can be bought for $21.22.

You couldn't even wish for a more graceful design.

Electrical Shop—Basement.

Even Tho Your Hair Is Straight

—you needn't comb it flat against your head unless you prefer it that way. Suppose you buy an Electric Curling Iron and do away with straight locks and the hairdresser's bill at the same time. And it's a great deal more convenient than other methods of curling, too. 15% off makes the present price $24.16.

Electrical Shop—Basement.

Why Spend the Evenings Darning?

—When the children's Stockings are fairly past the mending stage? Why, because one must keep down expenses in every possible way, and with children's Hosiery as high priced as they generally are, even the most overworked mother feels obliged to patch them as best she can. If some one would tell her, however, that Stockings could be bought for the kiddies for 50c instead of the usual 50c she'd soon eliminate the dreaded nightly occupation.

At the Tables—First Floor.

"Goody! Snow!"

—and Dad said he'd buy a sled soon's coating was good. He can buy a wonderful Flexible Flyer sled in the Toy Shop at Vandervoort's. There's a 25-inch Sled for Little Brother for only $5.00 and a big 60-inch one for $11. All the sleds in between are just as reasonable, too.

Toy Shop—Second Floor.

Chapped and Roughened Hands

—are the natural consequences of the first heavy snowfall. For without a doubt, Bobby and Betty will make a snowman and fill countless snowballs. A pair of good, heavy woolen gloves or woolen Gauntlets will accomplish more toward prevention than the usual arguments ever did. They aren't as clumsy as mittens, as they allow free play for the fingers.

Glove Shop—First Floor.

There Is Nothing So Becoming

—to the young girl as a simple little Middy Dress of white wash goods, or dark wool. They're not complete, however, without the fresh, bright Windsor or Peter Thompson Tie. A scarlet triangle slipped beneath the collar, and loosely knotted, or a smart black Windsor, are perhaps the most popular, but they come in all colors.

Neckwear Shop—First Floor.

VIEW OF SENATOR ON ROAD BOND AMENDMENT

McCulloch Thinks Auto Fees Can Be Used to Pay Interest on Issue.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 17.—Senator McCulloch of Knox County, author of the resolution adopted by the Senate asking Attorney-General Barrett for an opinion on the taxation features of the $60,000,000 road bond issue, today expressed the view that the amendment would not prevent the payment of interest on the road bonds from funds derived from automobile licenses, and that the amount which would have to be paid from the general revenue would be only such sum as the automobile license fund failed to meet the requirements for a sinking fund to pay the principal of the bonds and the interest.

Argument for Bonds.
The campaign for the bonds was conducted with the argument that they would mean no additional taxation, but later a question arose as to whether the interest could be paid from the automobile license fund. This interest will, when the total $60,000,000 of bonds is issued, amount to $3,000,000 a year. It has been feared by some good roads advocates that the Legislature would refuse to issue the bonds if the interest was to be met from taxation on property.

Senator McCulloch, discussing the matter, said: "The amendment provides in part, any motor vehicle registration fees or license fees or taxes authorized by law, except the property tax thereon, shall, after the issuance of such bonds and so long as any bonds herein authorized are unpaid, be and stand appropriated without legislative action for and to the payment of the principal of said bonds, and shall be credited to a sinking fund to be provided by law."

"It is manifest that this provision only disposes of such motor vehicle license fees, registration fees or taxes as are necessary to create a sufficient sinking fund to redeem bonds at maturity, and does not dispose of any excess arising from such fees over and above the amount necessary to provide such sinking fund. It clearly does not prevent the Legislature from appropriating such excess fees, if any, to the payment of the interest on the bonds. The only difference is that a sufficient amount of the motor fees to provide a sinking fund for the payment of the principal is appropriated without legislative action. It therefore follows that excess fees, if any, may be appropriated by the Legislature for the payment of the interest thereon by legislative action."

Barrett Working on Opinion.
It is not contemplated that the entire $60,000,000 of bonds will be issued immediately, and it is Senator McCulloch's theory that there will be practically enough money for the interest after the amount necessary for the sinking fund for the principal is set aside. Attorney-General Barrett will have a conference this week with lawyers, representing the Federated Roads Council and other lawyers who have made a study of the questions involved. It is expected he will send his opinion to the Senate next week.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

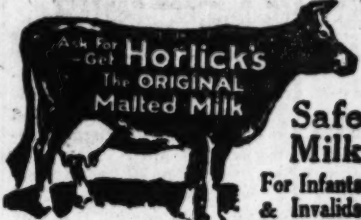

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them, 15c and 50c.

STOMACH TROUBLE

Regulate your digestion so you can eat favorite foods without fear of Indigestion, Flatulence, Gases, Acidity, Palpitation.

A few tablets of Pape's Diapepsin correct acidity, thus regulating the stomach and giving almost instant relief. Large 50c case—drugstores.

AMUSING SECOND ACT IN 'SWEETHEART SHOP'

Esther Howard's Capital Satire
as Greenwich Village Queen in Musical Comedy.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.
ONE subdued deeper and deeper into resignation during the first act of "The Sweetheart Shop," which arrived at the American Theater last night. After all, it seemed, this was just another musical comedy, on the same formula as the rest of them.

But the second act had scarcely opened when one suddenly sat up and took notice. Esther Howard, who used to play in stock at the Players Theater, now the Rialto, and who is starring in this production, was giving a portrayal of the "Queen of Bohemia" in Greenwich Village. She was speaking lines of clever satire, provided by Anne Caldwell, which were now the gibberish of an imitator poet, and now the ravings of a "superior soul," and she was speaking them not like a musical comedy heroine, but like an actress. This grew into a delicious bit of comedy, of a subtlety, a finesse and a verisimilitude that amounted to artistry.

"The Sweetheart Shop," where the first act is placed, soon proved to be the old matrimonial bureau with some up-to-date frills. It was still a place where, by paying a fee, one might secure a mate, but the proprietor had added the idea of providing insurance policies of $500, guaranteeing to his customers conubial happiness for one year. To ascertain whether the risks were good ones, he employed a temptress and a tempter, whose duties were to ply the patrons of the opposite sex with attentions which would put their propensities for flirtation to the acid test.

The male "vamp" is one Peter Potter, late "rob" of the United States Navy, played by Harry K. Merton, who is not only a merry soul, but a remarkable acrobatic dancer, with limbs of caustic humor. Enters Miss Minerva Butts, who has escaped from bottling cucumbers in a pickle factory by virtue of a legacy of $75,000, and who is in search of a husband. She has read a book called "Courts and Courtships," and is ambitious to have a "saloon" like Mme. du Barry and Mrs. Pompadour. She has noted that, as the first step in their careers, the famous sirens usually provided themselves with husbands. She is married to Peter Potter.

In the second act we are in the studio of a sculptor in Greenwich Village. Mrs. Minerva Butts Potter has discarded her rude husband for the spiritual life, her statue, "The Soul of a Centipede," has taken a prize, but the illiterate Potter has no inklings as to the souls of centipedes; his "amber mood" clashes with her "purple aura," and she has come to the conclusion that his wavy hair, for which she married him, is due to water on the brain. Her purpose now is to win the velvet-capped sculptor and elope with him to Egypt. In the third act, which lets down considerably from the second, she discovers, of course, that the canine fidelity of Peter is well worth having, for he has resisted the seductions of a Lorelei from Athens.

In the second act, also, the music, by Hugo Felix, which had seemed the usual composite of tunes to which you listen unconsciously, abruptly chirped up, reaching its best in the featured song of the work, "My Caravan," with its Oriental coloring. In this act, likewise, Marion Saki had some clever toe dancing, and Morton almost stopped the show with a supple display of gymnastic measures.

There are several pretty girls among the principals and in the chorus, and the settings and costumes are unusually dainty. The singing is more or less indifferent, but there is an augmented orchestra. "The Sweetheart Shop" is of interest here in that it was financed by local capital. It seemed in the East as if the investors would lose their money, but the work did well in Chicago.

Lecture on Wells' Book.
Percival Chubb yesterday morning delivered his second lecture on H. G. Wells' recent book, "The Outline of History," the subject, in this instance, being the Roman Empire. Rome's chief contribution to civilization, he said, was the conception of political and spiritual unity. The annihilation of Rome by the barbarians was followed by the "dark ages," during which, for hundreds of years, he said, Europe struggled back toward the level of culture that Greece and Rome had reached.

FIGHT OVER SIZE OF PEACE ARMY RENEWED IN SENATE

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The fight over the size of the future regular army was renewed today in the Senate after Chairman Wadsworth of the Military Committee, and other proponents of an army of 175,000 men, got back before the Senate the recently adopted New resolution proposing to cut the force to 150,000. Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, promptly attacked the 150,000 figure as too large, and asked Senator Myers, Democrat, of Montana, who sought to interrupt him, to "wait until I get to a stopping place."

"Does the Senator ever get to a stopping place?" asked Senator Myers.

Senator Reed yielded.

"Gen. Pershing," said Senator Myers, "came here and explained before the Military Committee that if Congress cut the 175,000 figure it would destroy the framework of a skeletonized army."

"All you have to do to meet that argument," said Senator Reed, "is to change the scheme a little and the experts could do it in three hours."

If you let the regular army write army bills you will have an army of 500,000 men, and if you let the navy write navy bills you will have a fleet able to sweep the combined war fleets from the ocean."

Two Anti-Lobby Bills in Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Two bills designed to circumscribe the activities of lobbyists in Washington were introduced today in the Senate, one by Senator Kenyon, Republican, Iowa, and the other by Senator Overman, Democrat, North Carolina. Both would require lobbyists to register and report the money received and expended by them, and its source. The Kenyon bill also would require persons seeking to influence decisions of executive departments to register and report on their expenditures.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT CONTEST DECISION LIKELY TODAY

The election contest of the Eleventh Congressional District, instituted by Bernard P. Boggy, defeated in the last election on the face of official returns by Maj. Harry B. Hawes by a majority of more than 2100 votes will probably be decided today with a completion of the count. There remain but 25 of the 155 precincts in the city to be counted.

It is against the law to report progress of such counts, but it is known that both Boggy and Maj. Hawes have lost some votes through improperly marked ballots and by failure of election clerks to number them or place their initials on them. It is said that Hawes will not lose more than 500 votes and that Boggy's gain, if any, will not be sufficient to change the result.

The proceeding will cost the city about $2118 for salaries for the 44 men employed on the count. Hawes has 11 watchers whom he is paying a total of $110 a day and Boggy has six watchers.

FRISCO TRAIN ORDER INVALID

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—An order of the Missouri Public Utilities Commission requiring the St. Louis & San Francisco Railway to divert two interstate passenger trains daily from its main line to Caruthersville, Mo., was held invalid today by the Supreme Court. The case came up on an appeal by the railway from decisions of the Missouri State Supreme Court approving the order.

The Frisco originally stopped at Caruthersville before building through to Memphis. When the line was extended to Memphis the railroad moved the main line 14 miles west of Caruthersville and gave that town one train a day from the main line. The citizens of Caruthersville petitioned the Public Utilities Commission for another train, which was ordered by the commission, the order being upheld by the Missouri Supreme Court.

BILL HART IS AGAIN IN "BAD MAN" ROLE

Sunshine Comedy at Liberty Theater Has Real Thrill for the Climax.

William S. Hart, who deserted the wild and woolly West for a time, is back among the bandits, the bawdy delis where Western hold-up men hold forth and has tossed aside the walking stick for the more reliable six-shooter. In "The Testing Block," Hart's newest film, which is showing this week at the Missouri Theater, Bill is the bad bandit king of old and, after a reel or two of rather profitable lessons to aspiring young bandits, Hart settles down to prove that, along with every thing else going down, there is an appreciable drop in the wages of sin.

There is some splendid photography and for those who like excitement in the movies there is plenty of action. Hart is a bandit leader who, single handed, beats up, one by one, all the members of his gang to see who shall have the right to abduct a pretty violinist who has charmed the outfit by playing "Nolie Gray" and reminded them of home and mother. Hart gets the girl—she is Eva Novak of St. Louis, by the way—and settles down to a quiet life which is rudely interrupted some years later by a member of the bandit's former gang who has never forgotten the beating his leader gave him.

Hart—he is Sierra Nell in the picture—his wife, their little son and the trusty violinist overcome the difficulty and, at the end of the film, settle down to live happily ever after. Harold Lloyd is also on the Missouri program with a typical Lloyd comedy called "Nimble." and the news film shows the return of the three navy balloonists, who were lost in the wilds of Canada. There are also two acts of vaudeville.

The truth about "The Truth About Husbandry" is that it is just another of those hectic man-and-wife dramas with which the picture-seeing public has become familiar. Wild oats, marriage, discovery, automobile accident and reconciliation are the conventional guide posts by which the action proceeds. It opened yesterday at the New Grand Central and West End Lyric.

The story is said to be based upon Sir Arthur Pinero's play "The Profitable," but that fact would likely remain secret if it were not announced in advance.

A deathbed scene in a hospital that would reduce any medical student to prostration—or laughter—shows several "sympathetic" friends of an automobile victim mauling the patient around in their embraces in a manner calculated to make the end premature and painful.

It is too bad that good acting and effective scenery should be thus lavished on a negligible plot. A "Buster" Keaton comedy exhibits, perhaps the ideal bachelor apartment, and is an opportunity for the display of some remarkably ingenious mechanical contrivances. Dinner over, the gas stove becomes a phonograph, the floor bin a dining table, the piano, and the table cover a motto with the inscription: "What Is Home Without a Mother."

It is not often that one of the shorter features carries off the honors on a big and well-balanced movie picture bill, but this distinction may fairly be awarded to a Sunshine comedy entitled "The Baby," on the week's program which opened yesterday at the Liberty. Here are humor, pathos, human interest and adventure, all within the compass of two reels. The story is developed along broad farcical lines until near the climax, when the sinking of a houseboat leaves the baby afloat on a door on a vast expanse of water. The airplane rescue is a thriller.

Praise of "The Baby" is no disparagement to "Prairie Trails," with Tom Mix in the leading role, which is the top-liner on the Liberty bill. Mix has the part of "Tex Benton," a cowboy who woos and wins a sheep raiser's daughter, but, with the spirit of a true cattleman, runs away when his prospective father-in-law offers to give him a herd of sheep as a wedding present.

While on his flight he saves a woman from abduction and has other adventures which call for his usual quota of hard riding and harder fighting. He weds the sheep man's daughter at last, though he has to rope and tie a Justice of the Peace to have the ceremony performed. The program also includes an Alaskan travel picture and a Mutt and Jeff comedy.

Betty Compson, who will be remembered for her excellent work in the film made from "The Miracle Man," is now a movie star in her own right and, her first production, "Prisoners of Love," is the feature offering at the Delmonte and Criterion Theaters this week. As Blanche Davis in the story Miss Compson flits between New York and San Francisco and shows how a woman finally can win the man she ought to have won in the first reel. The photography is excellent and the story a strong one. Miss Compson is a very pretty girl and should show to better advantage in a sweeter and more likeable part.

Harold Lloyd's comedy, "Number, Please," is also on the bill with a Mutt and Jeff film and the regular news film.

WOOD CARVINGS ON DISPLAY AT MUSEUM

Statuettes of Charles Haag and Wrought Iron Works of Googerty on Exhibition.

A new exhibition, consisting of wood carvings by Charles Haag and wrought iron works by Thomas Googerty, is on display at the St. Louis Art Museum. Both collections are unusual in the medium chosen and in the method of treatment. The statuettes in wood by Haag, which he calls "Spirits From the Woods," are of great interest because of their poetic and imaginative treatment. The sculptor, a Norwegian who spent his boyhood days among the great forests of the North, has caught the romantic spirit of the ancient Greeks, who people the trees of the forest, the streams and the mountains with dryads, hamadryads and other nymphs.

In his carvings Haag has sought to suggestively portray the forest dryads, which, according to the myths of many races, lived and died with the trees. In some of his statuettes, such as "The Steen" or "The Flame," can be seen the tree half-revealed, the form just emerging from the parent wood, unmistakably recalling ancient myths like that of Daphne and the laurel tree. In other examples graceful attenuated female forms sway gently, reminding one irresistibly of slender trunks and branches bending before the wind. Still others show snow-laden spruces or cedars, their branches so modeled as to suggest hoary figures.

Symbolic Woods Used.
The carvings are made from a variety of woods, such as oak, mahogany, cherry, walnut and willow, the sculptor having attempted to reveal or personify in each instance the spirit typical of the particular wood he was using.

For instance, in the "Log Roller" and "Log Carrier," which are carved from oak, he has sought to personify the sturdy and rugged strength of the oak tree. The figures are those of rugged laborers stooping patiently to their heavy task. The coarse texture and the grain of the wood are used with consummate skill to heighten this effect.

The same sort of symbolism is apparent in the figure called "The Old Apple Tree," carved from applewood. In this piece, Haag presents the form of an aged woman, bearing apples in her hands, as typical of the apple tree, gnarled and twisted by the storms of many winters, but still strong and fruitful. To represent the suave grace and pliancy of form of youth, as in "Bound to Earth," or "The East Wind," the sculptor has used mahogany, its fine texture and rich color suiting better the delicately modeled surfaces.

Other Pieces in Group.
Some of the other symbolic pieces in the group are "Oak Father," "Hollow Tree," "Twisted Oak," "Tree Prayer," "Moss," "Forest Giant" and "The Knag." As imaginative works of art, these little figures show a high degree of creative skill on the part of the artist.

Googerty's wrought iron pieces recall the craftsmanship of the Middle Ages, when smiths and armorers were ranked with painters and sculptors. His work includes door knockers, door hinges, door pulls, latches, a cathedral porch box and other objects. These collections will remain at the Museum until Jan. 31.

TENTH WARDERS INDORSE

FOUR FOR POLICE BOARD

Decide to Urge Gov. Hyde to Appoint Young Gerhart, Clarke and Brinkop.

The Tenth Ward Improvement Association yesterday endorsed former Chief of Police William Young, Frank H. Gerhart, Dr. B. W. Clarke and C. C. Brinkop for Police Commissioners of St. Louis, and sent a telegram to Gov. Hyde, urging the consideration of these men.

The association recommended that as a remedy for the increased expense of running the municipal government various departments be consolidated. The city hall at present has too many heads of the departments receiving from $5000 to $8000 a year, several members of the association said. It was decided to appoint a committee to make a survey to determine what departments of the municipal government could be consolidated.

A proposed bill, placing censorship on all moving picture shows under State supervision to regulate the showing of pictures of crime, was endorsed. The plan proposed recently by former Fuel Administrator Garfield that a Federal coal regulation committee be created to devise ways and means of checking high coal prices, was approved. A resolution protesting against the high price paid for garbage disposal in St. Louis and asking for an investigation was adopted.

The association also decided to issue a call for a convention of delegates from civic, business and school patrons associations to select candidates for the Board of Education. A resolution opposing an eight-hour day for city firemen was endorsed.

By the Associated Press.
SAN LUCAR, Spain, Jan. 17.—King Alfonso, with Archduke Frederick of Austria, engaged Saturday in a successful hunting expedition in the forests of this vicinity, bringing down numerous wildcats, wild boar and deer. Altogether the two sportsmen accounted for 76 animals in the course of the day, of which King Alfonso shot more than half. The hunters were in the saddle nearly 16 hours.

This Is Benjamin Franklin Day

This is Benjamin Franklin day—the young man's day to start.

Benjamin Franklin is best known to the reading intelligence of mankind through immortal "Poor Richard."

Poor Richard gave away all the good advice of his generation on the subject of thrift and saving, but he didn't have sense enough to save his own money and he died poor—that's why he was Poor Richard and will always be remembered for his poverty. But so far as we know he was the only pauper whose financial advice was ever taken seriously—possibly because the advice was so good.

If Benjamin Franklin himself had taken his own advice, he would have amassed a memorable, a monumental fortune.

Today is the day for you, Young Man, to prove yourself wiser than either Poor Richard or his literary father—by taking their advice.

F. L. TO MEET TO CONSIDER ATTACKS ON UNIONISM

Gompers Calls Conference for Feb. 23 at Washington to Take Up "Anti-Labor Movement."

SECRETARY HINTS AT LABOR OFFENSIVE

Frank Morrison Says Opponents Have Not Made Slightest Progress in
"Alarming Workers."

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Representatives of the 109 national and international unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor have been called to meet in Washington Feb. 23 "for the purpose of considering attacks now being made on the trade union movement," according to announcement yesterday by Frank Morrison, secretary of the federation. The call for the meeting was sent out by Samuel Gompers, federation president.

Secretary Morrison, who embodied his announcement in a formal statement, said that the forthcoming conference "is one of several similar gatherings that have been called by the American Federation of Labor during its history to consider unusual movements." In explaining further the intention of organized labor to give attention to attacks on trade unionism, Morrison said:

"These attacks include attempts to establish the anti-union shop, wage reductions, anti-labor laws, compulsory arbitration, labor injunctions and a publicity that would mold the public mind to accept these backward steps. I believe labor will formulate a plan to expose the pretense of men who are only interested in cheap labor and a continuance of their profit-making policy. The trade union movement is determined to act vigorously and courageously. Our opponents are mistaken if they imagine they have made the slightest progress in alarming the workers, or that they will humbly accept a policy of reaction."

"The proposed conference will consider the publicity and other methods of our opponents. And it is quite possible that labor will launch an offensive movement against those who imagine they control practically every avenue of publicity."

TEXTILE WORKERS VOTE TO RESIST WAGE REDUCTIONS

Union Official Tells Employees A. F. of L. Will Back Them in Fight to Restore Higher Scale.

By the Associated Press.
LAWRENCE, Mass., Jan. 17.—Assurance that "when the time is ripe the United Textile Workers of America, backed by the American Federation of Labor, will seek restoration of the 33 1/2 per cent in wages stolen from us through the manipulation of the employers," was given to employees of mills in this city by Vice President McMahon of the United Textile Workers, in a statement issued after a meeting of the local branch of the organization yesterday. The One Big Union also met and it was announced that "a council of action" had been unanimously endorsed.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 17.—The Philadelphia District Council of Textile Workers, at a meeting here yesterday, decided to resist strenuously any wage scale reductions, and called on the people of Philadelphia to support them in their struggle "for fair play and for a chance to live as citizens of a great American city should live." Most of the textile manufacturers recently announced wage reductions ranging from 10 to 15 per cent.

"Conclusive evidence," the resolutions read, "show that the textile manufacturing concerns in Philadelphia have made profits since 1914 which are grossly exorbitant. During the same period, the workers in the textile mills were denied any share of this prosperity and received wages which were insufficient to support them in health and decency."

Work Extra Hour Under Protest.
CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—Beginning today the 20,000 employees in the operating department of the Pullman company will work nine hours a day instead of eight. It was announced last night by their representatives at a meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor. The extra hour's work, returned by the company, will be done under protest pending a decision by the Railway Labor Board.

MEXICAN DUELLING MOST HARMLESS OF OUTDOOR SPORTS

Convenient Government Always Intervenes With Frown and Pride Is Satisfied.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 17.—Duelling as practiced in Mexico is the most harmless of outdoor sports. Although scarcely a week passes but some person whose pride has been hurt challenges the offender to "plato" at 20 paces in the Bosque of Chapultepec, few reach beyond the stage of talk and none even ventures close to reality.

A deputy from one Mexican state rises in the chamber and bitterly assails a member from another state for his attitude on certain public measures. The other replies with equal vituperation. Before the day is done the chances are a challenge will be carried to one or the other by two seconds, who later describe their efforts in a verbose report to all the newspapers.

Once in a while the challenge will be accepted and then there is a scramble on all sides to see to it that the "Government intervene" before the proper moment. Whether there is official "intervention" is conjecture, but the announcement is always the same—that "high authorities frowned upon the contemplated struggle to death and forbade it." Pride is always satisfied by such announcement, and the incident is forgotten.

BRAZILIAN DEPUTIES CENSURE ACTION OF U. S. 'RUBBER TRUST'

Charges Made That Interests Operating in Amazon Region Force
Native Planters From Field.

By the Associated Press.
RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 12.—Activities of United States rubber interests in the Amazon region of Brazil have been bitterly denounced in speeches before the Chamber of Deputies by three of its members during consideration of the critical situation through which the Amazon district is passing because of the low value of rubber.

The speakers—Deputies Salles, Valladares and Lacerda—charged what they termed as the "rubber trust" of the United States with driving down the price of rubber, forcing the native planters from the field and then purchasing the plantations at very low prices. The Government was called upon for prompt financial assistance to prevent further control of the product by the United States interests.

Deputy Salles, representing Amazonas, read telegrams from his state affirming that unless prompt governmental assistance was given there would be a general closing down of business in the principal cities of the Amazon district.

The same charges have been made in telegrams from commercial bodies of the Amazon region and many of the local newspapers are editorially condemning what they state to be the monopolistic activities of the rubber trust of the United States.

BRITAIN TRYING TO DIRECT HER 'EMIGRANTS WITHIN EMPIRE'

One Party on Way to Australia; Others to Follow; Peru Plans Abandoned.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Jan. 17.—The British Government is beginning to put into effect its plan to keep within the boundaries of the British empire the emigrants from the British Isles. Wales and Ireland who want to seek new homes in distant parts of the world.

This empire settlement scheme has been held in abeyance since the outbreak of the war because there were no soldiers to be repatriated; but the first large party, comprising 1100 emigrants, has just left for Australia. This party is under Government direction and the emigrants received a certain amount of Government assistance.

Sir James Connelly, agent here for Western Australia, announces that for the next two years 1000 emigrants will be sent to Australia each month, their passage being paid by the Government.

The Government has openly expressed its disfavor toward schemes for emigration from the British Isles to South American countries. In consequence, a campaign by Peru to induce English and Scotch to come there and settle has been abandoned after hundreds of them had accepted offers for free transportation to that country.

HARDING DECLINES INVITATION WILL NOT ATTEND CHARTER HALL IN WASHINGTON.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—President-elect and Mrs. Harding have declined an invitation to attend a charity ball to be held March 4 as a substitute for the discarded inaugural ball. The committee in charge announced today that Mr. Harding would not attend a ball of any sort at the time in view of the opinion he had already expressed against holding an inaugural ball. The charity ball plan will not be abandoned, however, it was added.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Jan. 17.—The Daily Telegraph prints an article by its naval expert, Archibald Hurd, with the object of showing Secretary Daniels "is not dealing quite frankly with the American public in the evidence which he has been giving before a Congressional committee."

Hurd says: "It may be that the summarized reports which have been reaching us do not give the true picture of the situation as it is. As though his statements carry with them the suggestion that the United States is merely building in response to the pressure of construction exerted by other great naval powers. This is not a fact, and it is important that members of Congress as well as the general body of the American people should appreciate the naval conditions which now confront them."

"They offer to the United States the opportunity of effecting great economies in her naval establishment without endangering her rightful position at sea and they place in her hands the chance of restoring to mankind service to humanity by helping lift from the taxpayers of the world the fear that they may be called upon in part for another ruinous race for naval supremacy."

"No hope can be entertained that naval expenditure will be limited unless the American people can be convinced of the part which they now are playing, apparently unconsciously, in the inspiration of Mr. Daniels."

Hurd then states that the following facts may be checked by reference to any naval hand-book published in this country or the United States. "First, the nations of Germany, Austria, Hungary and Russia have either disappeared entirely or ceased to exercise any influence by sea. In that way three of the eight great naval powers which once existed have been brought to an end. Second, of the five remaining navies, three belong to countries which stood side by side with the United States during the late war—Britain, France and Italy—and the desire is to perpetuate these cordial relations under peace conditions."

"So far as Great Britain is concerned, only three large armored ships have been designed and built during the past seven years. A considerable number of light cruisers and destroyers and submarines were built during the war, and they were built in order to defeat Germany, and thus the British navy is not only not inferior to the American navy, but it is superior to it. Since the armistice not only has the construction of over 600 British men-of-war ships been stopped, but the ships which were in hand, have been destroyed, but not a single keel has been laid in British shipyards for either the British fleet or any other fleet."

"Third, for seven years naval construction in France and Italy has ceased, and large capital ships which were in hand when the war opened have, without exception, been abandoned."

For some time, Hurd says, the American people have been fed upon rumors as to naval activity in this country and other countries which rest upon no foundation.

Hurd then refers to the position of Japan's "comparatively modest program," and says in conclusion: "If the Americans press on their ship building reaction must inevitably fall on every country in the world and the motive underlying the movement in the United States may become the object of suspicion to other Powers. That is a development which would be ill for humanity."

DRIFTER R-28 Ready in March.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The great drifter R-28, building in England for the American navy, will be completed in March and probably will start across the Atlantic early in July, the House naval committee was informed today by Capt. T. D. Craven, director of naval aviation.

The drifter, at Lakehurst, N. J., which will have the craft, will be ready for occupancy July 1, Capt. Craven said.

CRIMES DUE TO MENTAL DEFECTS, JUDGE OLSON SAYS

90 Per Cent of Cases in Chicago
Found to Be Committed by Defectives, He Says.

HE SAYS 85 PCT. AT BIRTH HAVE DEFECT

Chief Justice of Chicago
Municipal Court Here to Address Board of Religious Organizations.

Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Chicago Municipal Court, who came to St. Louis today to speak at the open mid-year meeting of the Board of Religious Organizations at Hotel Statler this afternoon, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that statistics have shown that 90 per cent of Chicago's crimes of violence are committed by mental defectives.

"And that must be true of every other city in the United States," he said. "Biology is the newest of the sciences. It was developed during the war when soldiers were subjected to mental tests. Nearly 55 per cent of the people are born with some mental defect."

"In the perceptive laboratory of the Chicago Municipal Court we divide the mental defectives into three classes:—those afflicted with sudden character change, those suffering from lack of affectivity and those who display a split association of ideas."

"By the latter class I mean those who are unable to properly associate various objects. When asked to associate a fork, for instance, with something else, they will think of a horse or some other equally foreign thing. Those who have no affectivity are the ones who suffer from loss of emotion. When we find a person suffering both from loss of emotion and lack of intellect, we have found a victim of dementia praecox and those are the ones who commit such crimes as highway robbery, burglary and assaults upon women."

Schools for Mental Defectives.
"An adult may be only 8 years old mentally and it is not proper to send such a person to a penal institution. He should be sent to a home for feeble-minded. The system of finding a person guilty of crimes of violence without inquiring into his mentality should be done away with in the United States. There is no more crime. It is a mental defect. If the intellectual and emotional centers of a man's brain have been destroyed he is not responsible for the crime he commits."

"In Chicago crime is anticipated and in an effort to prevent it special classes have been formed among the backward pupils of the public schools. Where a child is found to be a defective, he is sent to a special school. A double injury (that is an impairment of the intellect and of the emotional center) that child is separated from the others and sent to a special school for mental defectives."

RECOMMENDS SPECIAL COURTS.

"I hope to interest the members of the Board of Religious Organizations with living conditions because women are naturally more interested in human than men are. I am sure that the women will see the value of the new system and will demand that special courts be established in St. Louis and Kansas City to handle criminal cases on a psychopathic basis."

BUDENZ TO JOIN DELOS WILCOX IN STUDY OF PUBLIC UTILITIES

Former Secretary of Civic League,
Now in New York, to Start
New Work at Once.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Louis F. Budenz, former secretary of the St. Louis Civic League, announced today, starting at once, that he will be assisting with Dr. DeLos Wilcox of New York City, public utility expert, in a six months' study of public utilities, and particularly street railways, and the proposed treaty, followed an agreement by all the delegates. Article 40 stipulates that each member nation of the federation will continue loyalty to comply with the terms of treaties with foreign Governments, but that if extensions to those treaties should involve new demarcations of territory, a new Central American Union Conference will be called to consider the changes proposed.

ST. LOUIS POLICE TO ASK FOR AN INCREASE IN PAY

Lieutenants and All Officers
Above That Rank Want
$100 a Month More, Sergeants and Patrolmen $50.

FUND CONTRIBUTED TO PUSH MEASURE

Committee Reaches Jefferson
City to Present Salary
Advance Bill Which Also Provides for Bigger Force.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 17.—A delegation from the St. Louis Police Department, headed by Assistant Chief Gillespie, arrived in Jefferson City this morning with the police salary increase bill, and with a bill to increase the number of policemen in St. Louis.

Members of the delegation said a contribution of $1 had been asked from each of the 1600 policemen to a fund to defray the expenses of the committee which will visit Jefferson City from time to time during the session of the Legislature in working for the passage of the bill.

An increase of $100 a month in the salary of Lieutenants and all men above that rank will be asked for in the bill, and $50 a month will be asked for patrolmen and Sergeants. This would make a Sergeant's salary $290 a month and the patrolman $175.

Accompanying Gillespie were Lieut. Moran, Serg. D. J. Sullivan and Patrolman Frank Steffen. Gillespie was somewhat mysterious about the proposed bills, following the system used several years ago when policemen sought increases of salaries without advance publicity of their movements. Others of the committee, however, gave details of the plan.

The proposal to introduce a bill for an increase of 1000 in the number of policemen has been abandoned. It is stated, however, that the bill, when completed, will provide for 200 or 250 extra men.

ADRIATIC MOON'S EFFECT ON RADIO SERVICE IS PLOTTED

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Jan. 17.—The changes of the moon have been found by the radio officers of the small American fleet in the Adriatic sea to have a striking effect upon the efficiency of the atmosphere for transmitting radio communications. The officers, according to drawing curves and other diagrams, based upon months of observation, which they assert, reliably serve to indicate atmospheric conditions which will affect the efficiency of radio service will be met at any particular date in the future.

The discovery apparently has special application to the vicinity of the Adriatic, for there the changes in the atmospheric conditions caused by the change in the world's relation to the moon are much more marked than anywhere else in the world, so far as yet discovered.

The Adriatic fleet under Admiral Andrews depends almost entirely for its communication upon radio service, and having only receiving and sending apparatus of moderate efficiency it has specially benefited from the discoveries. The powerful land wireless stations, such as the new Lafayette station near Bordeaux, manage to overcome unfavorable conditions by using great power and so are not concerned about which way the moon turns.

HOME OF POOR GOVERNMENT SEIZED.

The seizing of St. Andrew's home was only an instance of the brutal manner in which the Bolsheviks treated the British and the Americans in Moscow. The action was all the more despicable and cowardly inasmuch as the people living there were for the most part poor government workers, quite destitute of funds.

When Krassin left Moscow I applied to Rosenberg for permission to leave, which was refused on the ground that the frontier was closed. When the frontiers were opened I again asked to be allowed to leave and was put off with the excuse that the frontiers were still closed, although I knew them to be open, as several foreigners had left. It was only when Krassin came from Moscow's bureau in New York, took over Rosenberg's job that the Foreign Office put its cards on the table and stated that they refused to honor my safe conduct and that they intended to hold me as a hostage. It took me a month to persuade Krassin to allow me to go. Krassin, leaving aside natural differences of opinion, behaved like a white man and showed himself both kind and considerate toward all the foreigners and genuinely desirous of helping them.

"Lane of Tears" in Moscow Daily Sees Women Selling Personal Effects to Get Money to Eat

Card System Declared to Be a Farce, Few of Articles Provided for Being Obtainable—
8000 Paid Soviet Spies in City.

By HECTOR BOON.
The saddest sight in the Muscovite city is the place I named the Lane of Tears. It is an alleyway between two rows of stalls on the Sukharevka. There women and men, old and young, almost entirely of the educated classes, with the exception of a few professionals who occasionally compete with them, together and sell their personal effects in order to keep body and soul together.

For three months I went to the market daily and never failed to visit the Lane of Tears. I have seen gently nurtured women selling their silk underclothing to the vulgar wives and mistresses of Commissars, who, all unmindful of the feelings of the seller, held up the garments for all to behold amid the ribald laughter and lewd jokes of the soldiers standing near. I have seen a young widow selling an officer's tunic and striving to gulp down the tears as, with the proceeds, she hurried off to the bread pitch. If I read the story right, the tunic had been dear to her as the last remaining remembrance of the young husband, the firing squad had taken from her.

One day as I was having my shoes cleaned, a luxury which later I was unable to afford, an elderly lady addressed me in rapid Russian. I did not understand her at first. She immediately asked me in French, German and English, with hardly a trace of an accent, what language I spoke. She told me in torrential French that she was starving (she looked it), and begged me to give her a little money with which to buy bread. She said all this as if she had learned it by heart and then had to summon up her courage to say it, as after asking for the money she told me in a faltering voice that she would not have done so but that she had not tasted bread in four days.

I took her to a food stall and insisted on her joining me at an early dinner. The food was rough but good. As we ate I got her to tell me her story. Her eldest son, an officer, had been killed in the war against Germany; her second son and her husband had been shot by the Bolsheviks in 1918, and she was left with a few pennies and a few months previously, when her only daughter and her husband had been executed.

Having sold all her possessions, she was now starving, and as she told me, had only eaten what she had to fall asleep one night and never wake up. I gave her what I could. I never saw her in the market again. I have often wondered whether her wish was fulfilled, and thousands like her, death can have no terrors, only relief from untold suffering.

A woman getting on in years, whom I often met on the Sukharevka, selling her clothing and other little trifles, has, I am glad to learn, arrived back safely in England. She is an English governess who had been in the service of a rich family living in the provinces. She made repeated applications to Rosenberg of the Soviet Foreign Office to be allowed to return to England, which were brutally refused. Moscow she was fed, but when it was evacuated she found it hard to keep alive. I was unable to help her, as I was desperately close to starvation myself. This woman was living at the English home, where I visited her several times. It was eventually taken over by the Soviet, and the remaining English women were herded four and five in a room, while the Bolshevik inmates lived in comfort in a room apiece.

The regular arrangement of the Moscow are deplorable. Most of the piping broke during the winter of 1918-1919 and no effort has been made to repair it since; in fact, no repair work of any description has been done during the last three years. The roads and pavements are full of yawning chasms and one risks his limbs if he goes out after dark. The streets are unlighted. No regular scavenger service is maintained. The work of cleaning the streets, the railway stations, etc., is done by forced levies of bourgeois and "eye wash" parties of communists. The main reason why the Bolsheviks take good care of the children is because it enables them to bring up the coming generation on bolshevism, communism and class hatred from the cradle!

PROTEST AGAINST ANTI-SEMITISM SIGNED BY WILSON

Declaration Opposing Propaganda
Against Jews, Bearing
119 Signatures, Made
Public by John Spargo.

'DANGEROUS SPIRIT IN NATIONAL LIFE'

President-Elect Harding, Asking
That Signature Be Left
Off, Says He Opposes
"Anything So Narrow."

By the Associated Press.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 17.—A protest against anti-Semitic propaganda in the United States, bearing the names of President Wilson, William H. Taft, Cardinal O'Connell and 116 other widely known men and women of Christian faith, has been made public here by John Spargo, Socialist writer. It exhorts particularly those who are molders of public opinion—the clergy and ministers of all Christian churches, publicists, teachers, editors and statesmen—to strike at this un-American and un-Christian agitation.

"We regret exceedingly," the protest said, "the publication of a number of books, pamphlets and newspaper articles designed to foster distrust and suspicion of our fellow citizens of Jewish ancestry and faith—distress and suspicion of their loyalty and their patriotism."

President Opposes Movement.
A new and dangerous spirit, it asserted, is being introduced into the national political life by these publications, challenging and menacing American citizenship and American democracy, men and women of Jewish faith, it declared, should not be required alone to "fight this evil, but that it is in a very special sense the duty of citizens who are not Jews by ancestry and faith."

To Spargo's request for his approval of the protest, President Wilson wrote:

"I have your letter of Dec. 22 and am heartily in sympathy with the protest against the anti-Semitic movement. I beg that you will add my name to the signatures."

President-elect Harding declared his disagreement with the protest, but expressed a desire to avoid creating a precedent by signing the protest.

LETTER FROM HARDING.

"I am sure you can understand why, at the present time, I am seeking the avoidance of undue publicity and reluctant to make public statements relating to any of our pending problems. I am no less sure that you already know, and that the American people already believe, that I am giving no sanction to anything so narrow, so intolerant or so un-American as the anti-Semitic movement. I have been preaching the gospel of good will and good neighborliness and I believe in these things and hope for the concord of America can be interested in any movement aimed against any question of our American citizenship."

"We protest against this organized campaign of prejudice and hatred," the signers declared, "not only because of its manifest injustice to those against whom it is directed, but also and especially because we are convinced that it is wholly incompatible with loyal and intelligent American citizenship."

"The loyalty and patriotism of our fellow citizens of the Jewish faith," it added, "is equal to that of any part of our people and requires no defense at our hands."

OTHER SIGNERS OF PROTEST.

Secretary of State Coby sent his approval by cable from South America. Others who signed were Secretary of War Baker, Secretary of Agriculture Meredith, former Secretaries of State Bryan and Lansing, former Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison, former Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, and former Attorney-General George W. Wickersham.

Several college presidents are on the list, including Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, John Grier Hibben of Princeton University, W. H. P. Fanning of Syracuse University, and Thomas J. Shahan, rector of the Catholic University of America.

Among the churchmen in the list are: Robert E. Spencer, president of the Council of Federated Churches of Christ in America; Bishop Benjamin Brewster of Maine; Bishop Chancery E. Brewster of Connecticut; Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes of New York; Dean W. P. Leach of the Berkley Divinity School, and Bishop D. J. O'Connell of Richmond.

STOCK MARKET DECLINE AGAIN

Coppers Open Strong, but Reaction Follows—Traction Issues Affected by Report of Possible Higher Fares.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Dullness continued in the stock market today, trading being only slightly over the half million share mark. The rails which were beat up at the end of last week after industrial stocks had weakened, fell off again today. Reading being a leader on the decline as it had been on the advance. Altogether it was evident that trading had very little public support.

"Coppers were well bought at one time showing gains at from 1 and 2 points, but reacted somewhat in the latter trading. The traction issues were strong in sympathy with the reported possibility of higher fares. Brooklyn Rapid Transit being up 2 points and Third Avenue 54. Toward the close the rails very generally showed decline, with the exception of the traction issues, which were moderate trading. Call money remained at 6 per cent throughout.

Frances and Marks Up.

"After the uncertainty created in the foreign exchange markets the latter part of last week by the fall of the French Ministry, the market seemed to be reassured by the prospects of Briand being able to form a cabinet which will continue a policy of moderation in foreign affairs. At all events both francs and marks were up sharply as compared with Saturday, the former 22 points to 43.30 and the latter about 10 per cent to 1.64 cents, the highest in some time. Sterling was also strong, advancing 3 cents to 12.75, and the dollar in this as well as francs was active. The other European exchanges were firm. Silver at London was 1/2 of a penny cheaper at 39 1/2 pence.

Wheat rallied today after Saturday's weakness. Opening at $1.72, or one-half a cent down, the March delivery advanced 1/2 cent to $1.72 1/2 after the afternoon. Cotton, after an early decline due to disappointing Liverpool advices, also rallied. The March price opened practically unchanged at 16.25, dropped 37 cents and then advanced to 16.40.

Big Gain in Reserve Ratio.

"Last week's gain in the reserve ratio of the combined Federal Reserve system which amounted to 1.7 per cent, and brought the figure to 43.1, was the most considerable since the present improvement set in. The principal factor in bringing about the improvement was a decrease of $110,000,000 in note circulation this week, resulting from a reduction of $20,000,000 in net discounting and a reduction of one-sixth was due to the actual increase in reserves on hand. Most of the Reserve Banks contributed to the improvement, the exceptions being those at Philadelphia and Richmond; and all the borrowing banks improved their real reserve position. As a result they were able to pay off another $2,000,000 of their debts to other reserve banks bringing the total of interbank borrowing down to $80,000,000. The Kansas City bank was able to pay back $9,000,000 and the Minneapolis bank $4,000,000, which confirms reports of a general liquidation in the corresponding farming regions. It is also gratifying to see that the Atlanta bank was able to repay another five millions to the lending banks of the system."

Foreign Exchange and Domestic Money

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Pronounced strength and active trading in the market for sterling and continental currencies today. MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY
By James J. Montague.

THE LOAFER.

I always hail a holiday
With poems of thanksgiving,
And seek sincerely to display
My eager joy of living.
I leave my tasks with leaping heart;
I loaf with pleased placidity,
Evading duty is an art
I practice with avidity.
In fact the only thing I shirk
Is work.

When anyone suggests I need
Some rest and recreation,
I rise and instantly proceed
To take 'em with elation.
When any sort of sport's a-ving,
I hasten blithely through it;
I love to do most anything
Unless I've got to do it.
There's nothing that my soul canirk
Save work.

For years—excepting when asleep—
Consistently I've sought to Discover ways and means to keep
From doing what I ought to.
And yet I'm spent with weariness,
There isn't any doubt of it.
It's harder work than work, I guess,
In trying to get out of it.
In fact the effort work to shirk,
Is work.

MAKE A SHIFT.
It looks as if an outgo tax would raise more revenue the coming year.

AND A BUMPER ONE.
With one born every minute
there'll be a new crop by the time
Mr. Ponzi gets out of jail.

March! March! March!
Miss Gallmeyer: "Why were the boys taking up that collection this morning?"
Miss Hoffmann: "To hire a coach for the basketball team."
Miss Gallmeyer: "Huh! I'd let

The Human Dodo.
Mrs. Jawlisp: "You say Mr. Jaw-strong always does what you tell him to and never talks back? He must be a rare husband."
Mrs. Jawstrong: "Rare? He's practically extinct."—American Legion Weekly.

"You remember you sold me a horse last week?" said the cabman, angrily, to the horse-dealer.
"Yes. What about him?"
"He fell dead yesterday."
"Well, I never!" said the dealer.
"I told you he had some funny ways, but I never knew him to do that before."—Irish World.
